January 13, 2009

Class Location & Time
Tuesday & Thursday, 2pm, Grissom 122.

Course Objectives
The course presents a survey of the career of western civilization from its origins in the ancient Near East to the European Renaissance. Emphasis is given to the close reading and interpretation of primary sources that reflect the intellectual and historical changes in society. Goals include

• acquaintance with some of the principal texts of the Western canon and their historical contexts;

• development of skills in critical thinking and written and verbal communication.

Required Texts

West & West Four Texts on Socrates (Cornell). ISBN: 9780801485749

Lualdi Sources of the Making of the West, ed. Lualdi, Third Edition. (Free with Hunt.)

Grading & Evaluation
As usual, 90%+ = A; 80–89% = B; 70–79% = C; 60–69% = D; 0–59% = F.

1. Midterm Exam (Eighth Week: Thursday 12th March);

2. Final (Cumulative) Exam (Friday 1st May, 3.30–5.30 pm)—the date of this exam has already been fixed and cannot be changed;

3. Contribution to the class: (Best quiz grades + Presentation grade) × Participation quotient;

4. 3000 Word Essay (Due Thirteenth Week: Thursday 16th April)

will each contribute one quarter to the overall grade.

Class Presentations
Each student will make a presentation on one of the reading assignments. Presentations should last no more than ten minutes, and answer at least the following questions:

A. Who wrote it? An account of the text’s authorship;

B. What does it say? A (brief) recap of the text’s content—note that all students are expected to read all assignments, so detailed restatement should be unnecessary;

C. What doesn’t make sense? What questions do you have after a first reading?
Contribution to the Class

The participation quotient is proportional to the number of weeks in which you make a contribution to the class. Contributions include, but are not limited to:

- delivering a class presentation;
- participation in discussion;
- asking intelligent questions;
- work on the class wiki, aberdein.pbwiki.com.

Course Regulations

- Students are expected to attend all classes.
- All cell phones (including text messaging), MP3 players, &c to be switched off during classes and exams.

- Essays to be word processed, with a full bibliography, and to be submitted in paper and electronic form. Late essay submissions will be penalized by one letter grade. Essays late by more than one class session will receive a grade of 0.

- Essay submission is final: whatever you submit as your essay is your essay.

- Any form of academic dishonesty will result in a grade of 0 for the course. You are responsible for knowing all Florida Tech policies on academic dishonesty (see www.fit.edu/current/plagiarism.pdf).

- ‘Florida Tech has contracted with a private company, TurnItIn.com, to help identify plagiarized papers. Essays written for this course will be submitted electronically to the TurnItIn.com web site for screening prior to being graded. Essays that are not submitted to TurnItIn.com will not be graded. Your instructor will show you how to use this service.’
